

People Who Have Been Supported in My Rescue Journey

“Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much.”

1 REMOTELY HELPING HANDS (Financial Support)

Thank you to all the kind hearts who support me remotely with money. Your contribution helps save lives, buy medicines, food & essentials.

2 HELPING HANDS IN FIELD RESCUE WORK

Those who stand with me in the field, come in the heat, rain and night, risking their time and comfort to rescue voiceless souls.

3 HELPING HANDS AS DOCTORS

Veterinarians and medical experts who treat the injured, heal the sick and give a second chance to live. You are true life savers.

4 HELPING HANDS PROVIDING SHELTER

Those who open their homes, shelters, land or space for rescued animals. You give them safety, warmth and love.

5 HELPING HANDS AS SHOPKEEPERS

Thank you to the shopkeepers who provide medicines, food, groceries and other essentials with discounts or even on trust. You are amazing!

6 HELPING HANDS AS VOLUNTEERS

Volunteers who donate their time, energy and skills. You are the backbone of every rescue mission and every success story.

7 I AM INSPIRED BY THEM

I am inspired by their compassion, dedication and selfless service. You show me the path of kindness and never give up.

8 HELPING HANDS AS RESCUERS & ACTIVISTS

To all rescuers and activists fighting for the voiceless, raising awareness and creating a better world for animals. You are heroes!

TOGETHER
WE CAN CHANGE
COUNTLESS LIVES.

Grateful Beyond Words

THIS JOURNEY IS OURS – FOR THEM!

THANK YOU FOR BEING A PART OF THIS BEAUTIFUL JOURNEY.

People Who Supported in This Journey

A journey of rescue is never walked alone. Behind every saved life are people whose kindness, knowledge, time, shelter, courage and trust make hope possible.

I will always remain deeply grateful to the kind people who made this journey possible in different places. I have forgotten many names over the years, but their kindness has never been forgotten.

In Barh, I can proudly remember these people:

Dr. Mithilesh Kumar — HOD, Government Veterinary College cum Hospital, Patna

He helped with treatment without charging fees. He is a kind and intelligent person who never made me feel hopeless or helpless. Through his work and behaviour, he quietly conveyed a powerful message: “We are here to help you.” His support gave me courage whenever I approached him with an injured or suffering animal.

Anumandalia Pashu Chiktsalay, Barh

Here I met Mr. Mohit Kumar, the staff of this hospital, a kindhearted person who understood my work and helped me with free treatment whenever I needed him. He always helped me whenever I approached him for support.

Mr. Paramananda Yadav — Ohh My Dog Centre, Barh

He helped me save street dogs affected by Parvo virus. More than anything, he made me feel that I was not alone. His support carried a simple message: “Never feel low. I am with you in your journey.”

Mr. Rahul Kumar — Owner, Shanti Pet Care, Barh

He guided me through many difficult cases and supported me like a brother. I learned a great deal by observing people like him while animals were being treated. Their care taught me that every animal deserves patience, dignity and attention—as if it were their own child.

Jagannath Pharma & Tara Medicine Store, Barh — Medicine support

They understood my work and often gave me medicines at a discounted price. Their support became especially meaningful when resources were limited.

Local Shopkeepers Who Became Like Family

Some shop owners helped me by providing groceries, vegetables and fruits at very affordable prices. Over time, an emotional bond developed between us. They supported me even when I had little or no money and was wondering how I would feed my “babies.” Their kindness made ordinary shopping feel like family support.

- Mr. Rambharoshi Pandit and his son Mr. Anshu Kumar
- Mr. Abhay Singh and his son Mr. Rajkumar
- Mr. Pintu Keshari
- Mr. Kishu Kumar
- Mr. Niraj Chaurasia

- Mr. Ajay Kumar
- Mr. Chandan Singh

Mr. Rajesh Singh & His Family — Shelter owner, Barh

Their family supported me during one of the most helpless periods of my life. When my previous room owner suddenly asked me to leave because I had two puppies with me, this family gave me shelter and support. Because of them, I am still here today.

His sons, Mr. Gopal Kumar and Mr. Shubham Kumar — First helping hands

They introduced me to their family, stood behind me and convinced their family to let me use their empty cowshed for the puppies.

A Family That Treated Me Like a Relative

For more than five years, this family has provided me food without expecting anything in return. They have treated me like a relative, not a stranger. I truly feel that I am not alone in this unknown city—I have a family here.

Mr. Nageswar Rao and His Family

Mr. Nageswar Rao and his wife, along with their sons Mr. Krishn Bihari, Mr. Rajesh Singh and Late Mr. Tejnarayan Kumar, are, in my experience, simple, decent, cultured and compassionate people. I will always remember their kindness.

Volunteers: Shri Aryan Rajput, Sachin Kumar, Ashutosh, Atul Manav and their friends — Field and rescue support

They have stood beside me from time to time during field work and rescue operations. Their willingness to step forward, even when circumstances are difficult, has been valuable.

Dr. Varun Sharma — Owner, “Umrob Dental-Clinic”

He helped me during difficult situations. In calf rescue operations, I often felt helpless because suitable accommodation was unavailable. Whenever he walked with me, I felt stronger. His presence gave me confidence that difficult goals could still be achieved.

Understanding Human Limitations

I truly understand that we are human beings, and every person has limitations—time, money, family responsibilities, work, health, personal struggles and the need to build a stable life. I do not expect everyone to be available all the time. Even a small act of support, given at the right moment, can change the fate of a helpless life.

Mr. Anurag Sahay Verma — Owner of Waggcity, Bangalore

This journey would never have truly begun in the way it did if I had not met Mr. Anurag Sahay Verma in Bangalore. He inspired me greatly in 2017. I worked with him first as a volunteer and later as a Waggcity manager.

Life and Rescue Work at Waggcity

We regularly fed street dogs across an area of roughly five kilometres around Waggcity. We rescued dogs, cows and pigs and also helped other rescuers working with horses and donkeys. At times, I managed the dog boarding centre in his absence. That experience strengthened my understanding of rescue work and gave direction to my life.

Kind-Hearted People I Met in Bangalore

In Bangalore, I also met numerous kind-hearted people such as Dr. Lohit, Dr. Swathi, Reiki practitioners and animal communicators, as well as rescuers and activists like Meenu Mam, Jen Lopez Mam and many others. Each of them inspired me in their own way and strengthened my belief that compassion can be found in many hearts.

Volunteers at NTPC, Barh — A special friendship of compassion

Here I met a young person named Shri Anshu Vishwakarma. After meeting him, I felt that he was almost my own reflection when it comes to compassion, honesty, kindness and the attitude of standing up for the voiceless. His concern for animals and his willingness to help touched me deeply.

His Family — A reminder of kindness

I also had the opportunity to meet his family. Every member of his family made me feel that the world still has kind-hearted people who care about others and are willing to stand beside someone working for helpless lives. Meeting them restored a little more of my faith in humanity.

My Parents and Siblings

My parents and siblings have always supported me. My family has embraced a simple, compassionate and spiritually inclined way of life, and I believe this helped nurture compassion and honesty within us.

My Brother-in-Law & Sister

My brother-in-law and sister continued to support me even when my passion for rescue work created difficulties. They never stopped me or made me feel ashamed of what I was doing. From 2015 to 2019, while I stayed with them in Bangalore, they supported me financially and emotionally in a way that made me feel truly cared for. I never expected such support; to me, it felt like a blessing from God.

CONCLUSION

I STRONGLY BELIEVE THAT MONEY AND KNOWLEDGE ARE TWO OF THE MOST VITAL TOOLS IN THIS ERA—TOOLS THAT CAN HELP US FACE THE MANY BATTLES OF LIFE.

But knowledge without compassion can remain incomplete, and money without purpose can lose its meaning. When knowledge, resources and compassion come together, even one ordinary person can become a source of hope for a helpless life.

SO, WILL YOU JOIN ME REMOTELY AS A FELLOW FIGHTER—IN YOUR OWN WAY?

You do not have to do everything. You can contribute knowledge, time, guidance, medicines, food, shelter, transport, awareness, a small donation, or simply a helping hand when someone is in need.

WE ALL HAVE THE POWER TO HELP EACH OTHER. LET US USE WHATEVER WE HAVE TO MAKE THIS WORLD A LITTLE KINDER, SAFER AND BETTER FOR EVERY LIVING BEING.
