

PIKKU

The Abandoned Dog Who Found His Way Home

A rescue story from Barh Animal Rescue Center

“Sometimes a frightened animal does not need a new life—he only needs someone to refuse to give up on him.”

A Call at Dawn

One day in Barh, I received a call from Rohan, the son of Mr. Chandan Singh. He addressed me as “Sir” and, in a deeply sad voice, told me that his father had abandoned Pikku—their family pet—about 15 kilometres away from home at dawn.

Pikku had become extremely protective of his family. He had bitten two or three relatives and a neighbour, and this had frightened the family enough to make them take the painful decision to leave him behind. But Rohan could not accept what had happened. He regretted it and asked me to help save Pikku.

The Search Begins

I immediately asked Rohan to send me Pikku’s photograph. As soon as I received it, I started searching the area he had described after returning from my office. I showed Pikku’s photograph to local people and asked them to keep watch.

For two days I searched continuously—along roadsides, riverbanks, temple premises, school grounds and farming land. Every possible place was checked. Every lead mattered.

The Third Day

Fortunately, on the third day, some young boys told me that they had seen Pikku the previous night. They said he may have been involved in an accident with a tempo on NH-31. I immediately began searching around the reported accident site.

And finally, I found him.

Pikku was feeble, frightened, hungry and almost hopeless. He could barely walk. When I approached him, he growled and moved away in fear. I called Rohan: “I have found your pet.”

Rohan arrived with overwhelming emotion. He thanked me and requested that I keep Pikku with me. I simply said, “Okay.” That small answer changed Pikku’s life.

From Fear to Family

From that day, Pikku became a member of the Barh Animal Rescue Center family. At first, he was completely unfamiliar with me. For nearly three weeks, he remained fearful and even bit me.

For his safety and the safety of others, I had to keep him chained during the day. At night, I brought him into a room so that he could slowly become comfortable around people again.

Little by little, Pikku began to trust. I patiently socialized this intelligent dog with the street-roaming dogs of my locality. His fear gradually faded, and he learned that he was no longer alone.

Today, Pikku is happily living with the other rescued dogs inside Barh Animal Rescue Center. The frightened, abandoned dog who once had nowhere to go has finally found a place where he belongs.

PIKKU'S JOURNEY

FROM A PAMPERED PET TO ♥ A LIFE OF HOPE ♥

Every story has a reason.
Every rescue has a purpose.

1 FOSTERED WITH LOVE

He was fostered from the age of 6 months by Chandan Singh, a financially stable family near Choundi, Barh.

2 A FAMILY MEMBER

He grew with overprotected feelings with his family. He feels like a true family member.

3 A BOND WITH HIS BROTHER

The family had another puppy (Pomerian) whom Pikku liked most. He grew up with him like a loving brother.

4 AGGRESSIVENESS ISSUE

His aggressiveness towards strangers became a danger for neighbours and relatives too.

5 ABANDONED 15 KM FAR AWAY

Chandan Singh's family decided to abandon him. One day, they left him 15 km far away from home.

6 HIS STRUGGLE IN THAT UNKNOWN PLACE

a SUDDEN ENVIRONMENT CHANGE. DEPRESSION MOOD

Suddenly changing environment. Depression mood.

b AWAITING FOR HIS OWNER

He waited for his owner on that street, hoping he would come back.

c STRUGGLING FOR SURVIVAL

He struggled for survival, searching food and water.

d ROAD ACCIDENT – INJURED REAR LEGS

He met with a road accident. His rear legs were badly injured.

e THIN BODY, ONLY COMES OUT AT NIGHT

His body became thin. He only came out at night for searching food.

7 A CRY FOR HELP

Sir, please save Pikku. My father abandoned him. Please keep him safe in your shelter.

Chandan's son informed me with a heavy heart and requested to keep him safe in my shelter.

8 SEARCHED FOR 2-3 DAYS AND FOUND HIM

I searched in that area for two to three days on roadsides, river sides, near temples, schools and fields. Finally, I found him. He growled at me in fear.

9 ROHAN CAME – COMFORTED HIM AND WE BROUGHT HIM TO SAFETY

I called Rohan to come. He comforted Pikku and helped me take him to safety and bring him to Barh Animal Rescue Center.

10 A NEW LIFE AT BARH ANIMAL RESCUE CENTER

From fear to trust... From abandonment to love... Pikku is now a proud member of our family. He is safe, loved and living a happy life with his friends at Barh Animal Rescue Center. ♥
